Happy Anniversary to the City of Holly Hill 7/1/1901

In June 1875, the area known as the Fitch grant was sold to William S. and Mary Fleming, residents of Delaware. After the Flemings completed the transaction for $10,000 they constructed a simple wood frame dwelling on their newly acquired property which they named Holly Hill. One tradition contends that the Flemings appropriated the name Holly Hill from their ancestral home in Ireland, as the holly trees then growing along the ridge resembled it.

On July 1, 1901, residents voted at Cave's Cigar Factory to incorporate the Town of Holly Hill. Vet Cave, who owned the cigar factory north of Delaware (now 10th St.), on the river, was easily named the first Mayor. The new city council included I. M. Mabbett, A. H. Carter, W. A. McBride, Lotan Cave, and A. E. Mason. Citizens selected Charles S. Harris to enforce the laws, and W.H. Poston and G. Harris were elected city clerk and treasurer respectively. Charles Wetherell served six years as Postmaster and eventually City Marshal and City Clerk. He later remembered the city fathers had a problem protecting the Holly trees from being cut down and arrests for the offense became fairly numerous. In 1910 Holly Hill had a population of 207.

Longtime Bank Closes Branch

Holly Hill SunTrust Bank has closed as more clients do their banking online. As one of the original SunTrust Bank branches it has been a large presence on Ridgewood Avenue since 1972.

Did You Know? The City approved the building of City Hall in 1936 and hired Daytona Beach architect Alan J. MacDonough to design the building. His plans for the coquina building were approved in November 1939 and WPA laborers completed the project at a cost of $150,000 in 1942.
